CANYON BANKS PLAN TO OPEN FRIDAY MORN

Nation Wide Holiday Is Proclaimed by the President

STARTED LAST WEEK

Governor Ferguson Took First Step on Last Thursday

The banks of Canyon have been closed since last Wednesday owing to the state and national banking holidays which were imposed by the Governor of Texas and later by the President of the United States. The holiday for Texas was called last Thursday during the March 2nd holiday, which was called by Governor Ferguson to extend until Wednesday. A bill was rushed through the legislature Saturday which placed State Banking Commissioner James Shaw in charge of all of the banks, trust companies and loan companies in the state.

On Sunday President Roosevelt declared a national holiday for banking to extend until Friday morning. On Tuesday Commissioner Shaw extended the holiday in Texas to conform with the proclamation of the President.

Congress will meet today at noon, and it is expected that before night a bill will be passed and signed by the President which will regulate the opening of all banks. A number of rules have been issued by the Secretary of the Treasury in regard to the banking facilities which may be rendered by the various institutions. It is expected that other rules will be issued tonight and be in the hands of the banks before opening time tomorrow morning.

The holiday for Texas came as a distinct surprise to the people of Texas and especially to Panhandle bankers. None of the banks in this section were expecting this holiday, and few business houses were provided with necessary change with which to carry on business. The idea of the banking holiday started in Michigan and rapidly spread over the nation. Texas was forced into the holiday by the fact that all surrounding states had declared holidays, and the border towns demanded of Governor Ferguson that the holiday be made in Texas.

The only service rendered during the past week by local banks has been in the matter of change. Representatives of the two banks established a change office at the Thompson Hardware Company, where change has been made daily. No checks have been cashed, or deposits accepted.

The banks of Canyon are in excellent condition, and were entirely unaware of the fact that a holiday conditions improved rapidly. They could do nothing but abide by the State and Federal ruling.

Randall Dairymen Will Banquet on Friday, March 24

The Randall County Dairymen's Association will hold their fifth annual banquet March 24th. Tentative arrangements were made at the regular monthly meeting of the organization Tuesday night at the county agent's office. The same committee that made arrangements for the banquet last year, consisting of R. O. Allison, E. Gidden and H. R. Fulton, was selected to handle the affair again this year.

Tickets will be available to the dairymen and their friends on and after Saturday the 11th and must be secured by Saturday the 18th. Tickets will be sold by a special committee consisting of L. T. Campbell, Albert Byars and C. C. Stewart or they may be had at the county agent's office.

Dr. E. F. Lanham of Amarillo and J. H. Cox, Jr., were business visitors at the regular meeting Tuesday night.

Democrat Chairmen Called to Meet Here Tuesday By Smith

A number of important matters will confront the county chairman during the coming four years, with the Democratic party in control at Washington. Also state affairs of importance will be considered at the meeting Tuesday.

Kress Bank Robbed; Attempt Made First State Bank of Happy

The safe of the First State Bank at Kress was stolen Saturday night, the robbers apparently making their get away with the safe and contents.

Attempts were made on the First State Bank at Happy and also the post office. Night watchmen fired upon two men who were attempting to enter both of these places. A trailer was stolen at Happy, which was located near Hereford Monday with a broken wheel. The knob of the Kress bank safe was in the trailer, which leads officers to believe that the same bunch which attempted the Happy jobs were the ones operating at Kress.

COLLEGE BILLS BEING STUDIED BY LEGISLATURE

Senate Committee Rejects Bill to Close Several Colleges

APPROPRIATIONS UP

Dr. Hill Appears Before Committee Regarding Appropriations

The Senate finance committee Tuesday night killed a bill by Senator W. R. Poage of Waco proposing to abolish eight state colleges. The vote was 8 to 3.

Poage, Senator Tom Deberry of Bogata and Senator George Purl of Dallas gave notice of a minority report and declared they would endeavor to have the bill placed on the calendar.

The Poage bill would abolish four teachers colleges: North Texas at Denton; Southwest Texas at San Marcos; Sul Ross at Alpine; and Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches. It also would have eliminated the College of Arts and Industries at Kingsville, the State School of Mines at El Paso, John Tarleton Agricultural College at Stephenville, and North Texas Junior Agricultural College at Arlington.

Heads of all the affected institutions were present at the committee session. Senator Grady Woodruff of Decatur defended the bill.

A ham entered by H. L. Heizer of this county won first place in the Ham, Bacon and Meat department of the Fat Stock Show in Amarillo. The cured meat department was especially attractive to the farmers of the Panhandle, and the entries were large in number. Mr. Heizer lives south of Canyon.

No Action Case of Frank Hays Taken This Week

Failing to file notice of appeal before the end of the term which closed Saturday, Frank Hays faces the necessity of paying the $100 fine imposed upon him two weeks ago, or taking some other legal steps.

Hays was fined by a jury in county court when charged by Sheriff Bob Barnett with refusing to issue a search warrant in South Amarillo where he is justice of the peace. The way to the Court of Criminal Appeals is still open to Hays on other routes than the appeal from the county court since this was closed by limitation when the term ended.

Hays was given until Friday to either pay the fine, or start some other sort of proceedings.

The sale of the baby beef will be held today.

KANSAS CITY, March 7.—Towering high over their opponents, the lanky West Texas Teachers from Canyon put on a second-half rally to defeat the Central Missouri State Teachers of Warrensburg, 33-25, in the third round this afternoon and tomorrow will meet the thrice-champion Wichita Henrys in the quarter-finals of the A. A. U. National Basketball championships.

The Texans trailed by 13-18 at the end of the first half after the Warrensburg Teachers had led from the start, at one stage by 16-6. The count was tied with field goals by Fortenberry and Colvin and a free throw by Comer early in the second half and the Buffaloes never were behind thereafter.

With five minutes to play the score was 23-21. Fortenberry pulled his team out into its decisive lead by tipping the ball in while standing field-footed among the smaller Warrensburg defenders. Fortenberry is 6 feet, 7 inches tall.

West Texas' height advantage was so decided that the Buffaloes made only two of their 15 field goals from outside the Warrensburg defense. The game today was similar to the Texans' second round contest yesterday in which their extreme height turned back the Alva, Okla., Teachers, who had run upon an early lead on the big boys from Canyon.

In exhibition play at Canyon earlier this season, the Texans split a two-game series with the champion Henrys.

Tragedy If Teachers Colleges Are Injured Says Dr. R. P. Jarrett

Bob Jarrett spoke Tuesday at the luncheon of the Rotary Club, discussing the nation-wide movement against the teachers college as a whole. He read from an article of Dr. Bruce Payne of Peabody College in discussing the movement to diminish the activities of the teachers colleges. Dr. Jarrett summarized the remarks by calling the movement a tragedy, should it be accomplished. Teachers colleges as a whole are as necessary to the nation as a whole, as W. T. is necessary for Canyon and Northwest Texas.

Dr. Payne called attention to the fact that there were 80,000 more students in the 273 teacher training institutions of America than in all of the state universities. The million teachers of the 25 million youth of America deserve specialized training institutions. The improvement of the public schools of America parallel the improvements made in the teacher training institutions. If the teacher training institutions are to be destroyed and their work transferred to other institutions, why not the same with law schools, medical schools, etc? As important as is the teaching profession to the American life it needs special training institutions.

Dr. Payne called the demonstration schools the greatest achievement of the teachers colleges. Dr. Jarrett called attention to the fact that the first in Texas was at W. T. and the finest building in the Southwest is at W. T.

The improvement of rural life through the teachers colleges was discussed at length by Dr. Payne. These are the only institutions which are not robbing the rural section of its youth, but are training them and sending them back to improve rural conditions. According to Dr. Jarrett, the Panhandle has the best system of rural schools in the south, which has been accomplished by the work and through the influence of W. T.

Arthur Osgood, Jack Allen and Leroy White of Amarillo were visitors of the Rotary Club.

Two Cows Found With TB—Urge to Make Tests Made

The City Commission has urged that all who use milk be sure that it comes from cows which have been tested. When the test was made last week two milk cows within the city limits were found to have TB.

Sixty cows were tested within the town of Canyon. This included two dairies that have been regularly tested. Outside these dairy herds, which had no TB, there were 36 cows tested, and it was among these 36 that two TB cows were found, or 5 1/2% of those tested.

Among the farm dairies that have been testing for two or more years, 960 cows were tested this year, with only 2 found to have TB. One of these was a young heifer not in milk. This makes a percentage of 2%, and is a reduction from 1 1/2% when the first tests were made three years ago.

The city commission stated Monday that owing to the expense the regular dairy ordinance could not be passed at this time. But each and every citizen should demand that the cows from which they were using milk be tested.

Entered at the postoffice at Canyon, Texas, as second class matter. Published weekly at office, 1813 Fourth Avenue, Canyon, Texas.

The bank holiday in Texas was forced upon the state, not because of conditions within the state, but because of the fact that all surrounding states had declared holidays, and this condition was working a hardship upon the banks of Texas. Locally, the banks of Canyon were very much surprised when the holiday was called. The two banks in Canyon are sound and in excellent condition. They could do nothing but accept the holiday proclamation of Governor Ferguson and abide by the request set forth in the proclamation. The banks of Canyon will abide by the rules set forth by Banking Commissioner James Shaw, who will be dictator of the banking situation in Texas under the terms of the bill passed Saturday by the Legislature. There may be some people in Canyon foolish enough to think their money would be safer in their pockets than in the banks. A few hold-ups will cure them of this idea. The holiday was called to insure their remaining safe. All citizens will do the state a service to continue in their regular channels of work, and not to attempt to withdraw more money than they actually need for business purposes. The banks must live up to the rules set forth by law, or suffer a very heavy penalty.

Recommendations have been made in the Texas legislature that the state do its own printing, under the guise of saving money. It is now disclosed that the federal government is actually wasting money thru the government printing plant. The head of a department became dissatisfied with the prices charged his department by the government plant. He secured prices from a commercial printer, and found he could have saved the government money by having the work done through private contract. The idea of the state going into all kinds of competitive business is absurd. While the claim is always made that the post-office could not be run as cheaply and as successfully by private contract, as by the federal government, no figures have been presented to back the assertion. It is always a safe rule for the sake of efficiency to demand more business in government, and less government in business lines.

The big fight in Texas over prohibition will first be on the date of the state convention. The wets made a gesture at first to rush through the proposal and have the convention this year. If it comes to a question of votes, and a poll tax receipt is required, then we shall not have a representative convention this year owing to the great falling off in poll tax payments. There is no particular reason for rushing through a proposal for the convention this year. Those qualified to participate will no doubt be called upon to have a poll tax receipt. The wets have maintained that the 18th amendment was rushed through while three million men were under arms and had no opportunity to vote. Let not the same mistake be made this time. Everyone who wishes to express his opinion should be given ample time to equip himself with the necessary credentials.

The people of the United States have great confidence in the ability of Franklin D. Roosevelt to meet the present emergencies which are confronting the nation. Few Presidents have had the opportunities which are open to Roosevelt. The restoration of American business is probably the greatest need of the hour. Introduction of sound business methods, beginning with the federal government, is the only way by which this may be accomplished. The greater powers which have been voted to the new President, should be a wonderful inducement to a sincere effort to guide the ship of state safely thru the present conditions. More power to the new President; may the god of good fortune ever guide him in his dealings with the American people.

Instead of appointing a commission to investigate matters, or making a statement that everything was fine and rosy, as his predecessor was wont to do, President Roosevelt during his second day in office accepted the responsibility of office, and declared a nation wide bank holiday, calling

Congress to meet today to pass upon regulations which are necessary for the welfare of the nation. Roosevelt is a man of action. He may do the wrong thing, but you may depend upon his doing something about present conditions, and the American people are trusting that he will do that something which will make it possible for the depression to end, and end quickly.

There is an old adage that the darkest hours are just before the dawn. That may be true with the economic condition of the world today. Students of history point out the fact that from every depression the United States has suddenly started on the upgrade just when conditions looked to be the very worst. Some of them are making this prediction now, and all of us are hoping that they are correct.

The bank holiday in the United States recalls to mind the holiday of 1907, and even 1893, to many Canyon citizens. We are told that conditions then were even worse than they are today. The federal government has taken over the situation, and relief may be expected soon. President Roosevelt recognizes the seriousness of the financial situation and is determined to end the depression as quickly as possible.

The death of Senator Walsh removes one of the brainy Democratic leaders. He was a brilliant lawyer and political leader. He was a Catholic by religion, and a dry by precept and practice. His death takes from the cabinet of President Roosevelt one of the most trustworthy advisors.

There is really more talk in the Panhandle of a new state than one would imagine. Ever so often this talk is started, but no definite steps are taken. This time the consideration seems to be more general and we would not be surprised to see some definite steps taken within the coming year.

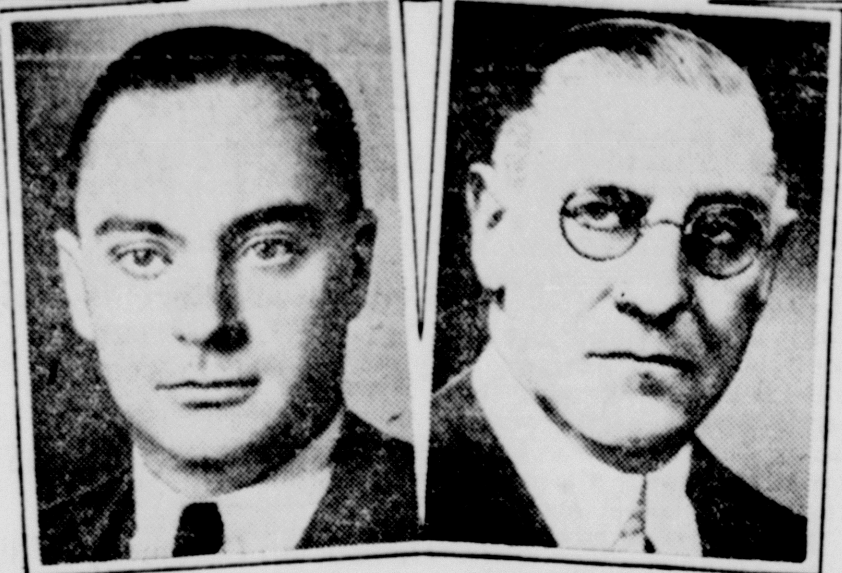

Most of us believe that Hooey's brother told the truth. It is remarkable how a cracked politician can fool the people for any length of time.

Going Back to Barter, Million Jobless Learn to Live Without Money

THERE is a saying that "money talks," but a million jobless Americans have learned that their goods and services, exchanged through the medium of barter, can be just as outspoken these days in the earning of a living.

And the number of penniless citizens who are swapping their services and produce is steadily growing. According to recent statistics, bartering is going on daily in more than 200 exchanges located in more than half the states of the Union.

Movements are under way to encourage and coordinate the growth of bartering in order that more of our 10,000,000 unemployed may benefit. In New York City, for instance, an Emergency Exchange Association has been formed to facilitate the transfer of goods between localities, and between agricultural and industrial districts. A plan to solicit federal and state aid for barter exchanges is being considered, and there is talk of setting up a national chain of cooperative barter organizations.

ONE of the most successful barter agencies up to this time has been the Natural Development Association, which operates in Idaho, Wyoming, Utah and Arizona. The N. D. A. originated back in 1931, when the idea of bringing about a direct exchange between the surplus produce of nearby farms occurred to a number of Salt Lake City business men. Led by Benjamin B. Stringham, a real estate operator, a small exchange bureau was started.

Hiring trucks, the group began delivering jobless volunteers to the farmers. After working all day in the fields, the men were paid off in produce and returned to their homes. Back in the city, they used their farm "wages" to pay for haircuts, dental services, medicine, etc. Rapid growth of the exchange's business made necessary its incorporation in January, 1932. Several months later scrip was introduced as a medium of exchange among members of the organization.

At the present time, the N. D. A. lists 16 major kinds of commodities for exchange, and over 100 lines of unskilled labor, services and trades. Some other large barter organizations throughout the country are the "Organized Unemployed, Inc." of Minneapolis; the Unemployed Married Men's Council of Omaha; the California Cooperative Exchange, of Los Angeles and the Unemployed Citizens League of Seattle.

In the picture above, Clarence Dean, right, is shown giving cans of honey he had produced to Dr. H. W. Rehder, president of Westminster College, Salt Lake City, Utah, in exchange for tuition. A wooden nickel such as those being used for money in Blaine, Wash., is shown below, and just above is shown the barter certificate being used by the Minneapolis "Organized Unemployed, Inc." And at right is Benjamin B. Stringham, father of the Natural Development Association.

THE principle of barter is being used in other and unique ways. Application of the barter theory to industry is being made by the Midwest Exchange, organized by President Arthur E. Morgan of Antioch College at Yellow Springs, O. This exchange provides manufacturers and other producers with raw materials, labor, technical research and other commodities in exchange for their products. The exchange then finds a market for the products.

In another unusual application of the barter system, some colleges—Louisiana State U., Illinois Wesleyan and Utah's Weber College, to name a few—accept farm products from students, in lieu of fees.

And sometime ago the U. S. government resorted to barter when the U. S. Farm Board swapped 25,000,000 bushels of surplus government wheat to Brazil for 150,000,000 pounds of coffee.

While the growth and popularity of barter does not necessarily mean that it is here to stay, authorities generally are agreed that the exchanges lift a great burden from private and governmental agencies now struggling with the relief problem.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

Carries with it certain duties and obligations which cannot be overlooked.

No selfish policy can achieve lasting success, but through co-operation and active public interest we can make our community flourish and grow.

We do not measure success by profit alone. If, through careful service, we can help our patrons to greater prosperity, our business will take care of itself.

The growth of our business and any profit that we may expect from it is entirely dependent upon the prosperity and growth of our community as a whole.

The difference between success and failure is often measured by our ability to take full advantage of the experience of others.

Hoping that we may be able to serve you even better from now on than we have in the past for over one-third of a century.

THE EAGLE'S TALE

VOLUME NO. 7

CANYON, TEXAS MARCH 9, 1933.

Cactus Cal

Wal, folks, I've just got in from Pumpkin Center. Dog-goned if that ain't most nigh the deadiest burg I's ever in. Not a sole in town. Jist a few old spotted dogs layin' around in the sunshine. Didn't even get to see my gal, Lizzie Waggoner.

By the way, how many of you all saw them Eagles and the seventh graders play that thar basketball game the other day? That shure was a good game I guess; or at least that "Scoop" (Somebody) told me, and I guess he ought to know, cause he was sittin' over thar on the piano with some gal beside him and he shure seemed interested in the game. Anyway, I saw the game, and you let me tell you, them thar coaches or wagons, (which is it?) anyway they shore did run a lot for the seventh grade. That little fellow, Brown, Smith, Jones Johnson, or whatever his name is shure was a hoggin' that ball. He'd jist git it and run away from the rest of the bunch, and when he got to the wall he would jump up, throw the ball and fall down on the floor and lay thar a minit, then they would start all over agin. I couldn't hardly watch the game fer lookin' at those gals runnin' around with white shirts and black pants on.

Well, I guess you all had a good time on that holiday you had last week. Holidays don't mean much to me, cause I hafta work all the time anyway. I wuz jist a workin' like a Turk the other day when I heard the awfulest noise. Sounded like a bunch of cows on a brick pavement. I waited fer awhile and I soon saw a bunch of gals all dressed up in breeches, shirts, overalls, and these here big-legged nighties, comin' down the street. That shure was a queer sight. There were biguns' and littluns', talluns' and shortuns' fatuns' and skinnys' all in a bunch jist a paradin' down the street. As fer me, I ain't plumb in favor of sich actions and caper cuttins' as these here town gals are accustomed to now.

Never no one told me why so many guys were wearin' these here bright colored shirts. I believe it's gettin' worse. Why thar are reduns, blackuns, purpluns, yelluns, and most nigh ever color. I noticed a bunch of gals, I guess ten or twelve of 'em, hangin' around together. What's the idea anyway? Why don't you bunch of gals git out and associate with the other gals? Youall actin' this way jist leaves a bunch of other gals out. They may not want to associate with you all, but it ain't very nice fer you all to act this a way and not have any cause fer doin' so.

Did any of you all ever see sich a thing as the banks a closin' up fer five holidays? I'll bet you all wish "Ma" Ferguson would close the schools for a five day holiday, dontcha? Well, I shure wish the cow punchin' business would close up fer five holidays as soon as the banks open. I could have time to grease and restrin' my saddle, curvy my cayuse, put new strings in my fiddle and get to town and git that four dollars and thirty-nine cents I got in the bank. Kinda afraid there'll be trouble if I lose that seven years' savins'.

Well, is all you boys gonna enter this here track meet they are gonna have? I'll bet that will shure be a fast affair. Shure wish I could enter my horse in this here high jumpin'. Old Bess can out jump any hoss I ever saw. She can take two steps and clear a seven foot coral fence, then trot off with her ears and tail in the air. I also got a burro I use to haul water with when I can catch him. I'll bet old Jake can outrun most nigh all these here Canyon boys. I run old Jake around the coral four hundred and nineteen times the other day tryin' to catch him. He sure has got the endurance. I ain't ever seen a real hoss out run him around a coral yet.

Wal, people, its most nigh feedin's time, gotta sign off now and feed the hosses. I'll be a seenin' you again soon.

March Birthdays of C. H. S. Students

February is often thought of as the birthday month because of the birthdays of important men that fall in that month, but when we look at the prominent Canyon High School students whose birthdays arrive in March, we find that month also important.

J. M. Black and Marvin Calliham are the seniors whose birthdays represent the blustery month. J. M.'s comes on the 14th and Marvin's on the 1.

Of the junior birthdays, Alton Brasuel's and Wilson Hicks' come this month. Alton's is on the 5 and Wilson's on the 18.

The sophomores have the largest representation. Winnie Dee Hicks celebrated the 8, Wilma Price will celebrate the 14, Dorothy Decker the 16, Thurman Cook, the 21, Mary Lee West the 22, Edith Steen the 23, O. M. Solomon the 24, Louise Groom, the 27, and Hampton Lisle the 29.

Estelle Furlow and Minnie Lee McMillan of the freshmen celebrate their birthdays in the month of March. Estelle's comes on the 10 and Minnie Lee's on the 30.

The only two who celebrate the same day are J. M. Black and Wilma Price. Their birthdays are on the 14th.

Essay on Men

Men are what women marry. They have two feet, two hands, and sometimes two wives, but never more than one idea at a time.

Making a husband out of a man is the highest plastic art known to civilization. It requires science, sculpture, common sense, faith, hope and charity.

If you flatter a man, you frighten him to death, if you don't you bore him to death. If you permit him to make love to you, he tires of you in the end—if you don't he gets tired of you in the beginning.

If you wear gay colors and a startling hat, he hesitates to take you out. If you wear a little brown suit and look demure, he takes you out and then stares at the woman in rough colors and startling hat.

If you are the clinging vine type he doubts whether you have a brain, and if you are modern, advanced and independent, he doubts if you have a heart. If you are silly, he longs for a brilliant mate, and if you are brilliant he longs for a play mate.

If you are popular with other men, he is jealous, and if you are not, he is afraid to marry a wall flower.

Men are O. K. anyway.—The Question Mark.

Lloyd Buchanan was absent from classes last Friday because of illness.

Second Guy: "How's that?"

Track Training Sets Under Way With Many Out

The regular track training season started February 26, while the list of track candidates grows every day. At the present time there are about fifteen boys who report every day for the workouts. Of course there are some who do not practice regularly and in time one will be able to distinguish between the regular and irregular trainer.

As for material, we have some of the best material in the district right here in Canyon High School. F. A. Thomas will probably be one of the best quarter-mile men ever produced in Canyon High. George Brasuel and Austin Cone are by no means poor distance men. George's brother Alton, is also a fair distance man. Sewell Cox, Hampton Lisle and Edward Brooks are the best of the sprinting material. Sewell is also a good high and broad jumper. Tyson Cox is a high jumper that cannot be overlooked. Tyson has been showing up well in practice.

The first two weeks of practice have been mostly for conditioning the men. Almost daily Coach Barksdale takes F. A. George, and Austin out in the country, sometimes five miles and lets them run back. This is to build a good endurance for the boys. Coach has been busy the last few days working the soreness out of the runners and jumpers who were not accustomed to the strenuous work.

Friona High School is planning on holding an Invitation Track and Field Meet, March 17-18. Coach Barksdale is planning on entering the Canyon team. So much work must be done before the meet in order to get the men in condition and to determine exactly the best in each division.

Mr. Terry Gives Party for Teams At Cash Home

Friday night after the boys debate with Olton, Mr. Terry entertained the debaters with a party at the Cash home.

"Jenkins Up," anagrams, and "42" are some of the games played. Following the games a delicious refreshment was served to the guests.

Those present were Laura Fern Brian, Kathryn Robinson, Robbie Foster, Rosa Cash, Armore Lee Greenfield, Joe Collins, Marvin Calliham, Bob Black, Mr. S. B. Orton, Miss Murrell, Miss Dickinson, and the host all from Canyon. Those present from Olton were Vaneta Criswell, Norma Joy Thurston, R. H. Morgan, Dee Cates, Mr. R. E. Terry, Jr., and Mr. Boren.

Well, anyway, the League of Nations might come in handy in settling some of our heavyweight prize fights.

The poll tax will be 1 cent for a vote for both the king and queen. One person may vote as many times as he wishes.

The actual date for high school night, on which the king and queen will be crowned, will be set later, but it will be around April 1.

The program for all high school night will consist of stunts put on by organizations and clubs in the school. The club giving the best stunt will receive a cash prize of $2.50.

Verline Furlow is chairman of the stunt committee. All stunts to be put on must be registered with her before arrangements can be completed.

Admission will be charged for entrance to the all high school night program.

Gold Basketballs Awarded to Girls

Do you remember . . . how cold it was when we went to Pampa? How we had to play ten minutes extra to let the Pampa girls recognize the fact that we couldn't be beat. Why Bovina beat us, or why it is that the Christmas holidays are hard on basketball girls? That Miss Smith insists on us circulating? Why we were afraid of Elaine Dyer? How the Oklahoma Lane girls kept up the old school spirit? How tall Friona girls grow? Why Lazbuddy girls could not play ball after they ate all the supper we fixed? How Lazbuddy girls had weak knees? Why Hereford couldn't down us Eagles? How we wanted a second shot at Friona?

These few things will probably bring to memory funny or sad experiences on the basketball court.

Of the eleven games played, only four times did our Eagle girls surrender to the opposing teams, and in every case they acted like the good sports that they are. In order to show her appreciation of the girls, old C. H. S. is giving eight of the squad gold basketballs. Velma Crawford, Mable Schmitz, Armore Lee Greenfield, Athalee Overton, Mary Lee West, Dora Plaster, Gallen Porter and Wilma Harris are the lettermen for this year. To the team, the coach, the captain and the co-captain we wish to say, "Good luck in the future, and at the end of next season may you brag of no defeats."

Saturday night, March 4, the members of the J. U. G. club traveled through the worst sandstorm of March to the home of Viva Bell Cox. After eating supper the girls used the largest room available as a gymnasium. About 12 o'clock a luncheon was served and the girls were put to bed. Those present were Leola House, Gallen Porter, Athalee Overton, Armore Lee Greenfield, Mable Schmitz, Helen Hardman, Velma Crawford and Viva Bell Cox.

Helen Elizabeth Bowman and Ruby Foster returned to school Tuesday after the recovery of a serious attack of appendicitis.

OUR SCHOOL BAND
Since up until the present we have not had a band to play for us in chapel, we are very proud of our school band. Our appreciation is strengthened because of the absence if this organization in our chapel programs until this year.

Although we have had a band organization each year, it has never been advanced enough to offer more than one or two programs a year.

The band this year is composed of high school students. The regular members of the band are Kathryn Robinson, Mabel Schmitz, Robert Orton, Jack Pitts, Estill Furlow, Gerald Nobles, Elvert Laughery, Loretta Cole, Edward Brooks, Mary Strain, Lorenzo Wirt, Jack Oldham and Glenn Vetesk.

These students have made much progress under the teaching of Mrs. Barker, and up to the present have played several times in our chapel programs. The student body has enjoyed these band programs very much and hopes to enjoy many more this year.

Supervisor's Column

The teachers of the elementary grades have tried in their home room programs to provide an opportunity for each child to have a part in several programs during the year. The growth that the individual child makes through participation in these programs is inestimable.

During the month of February each home room made wide use of the wealth of seasonal material. In some instances the programs grew out of correlated work in reading, English, art, history, and music. On Feb. 22, Mrs. Murrell's second grade entertained Mrs. Beason and her second grades. Patriotic colors and colonial costumes were in evidence everywhere. A short program consisting of dramatizations and songs done in regular class work was given by each grade before the games began. At the close of the games Mrs. Murrell served delicious refreshments.

The most elaborate program of the month was worked out in Miss Smith's fourth grade. The pupils of her room had observed each special day in the English class as they discussed these programs some one made the suggestion that they combine some of these programs and entertain other grades. As a result, a February Pageant was worked up with the co-operation of Mrs. Barker at music periods.

On Feb. 28th this program was given in the gymnasium with all the primary grades and many mothers as guests. By request, it was given again on the following day with four sections of the grammar grades as guests. Much praise is due the fourth grade and Miss Smith for this lovely piece of work.

Ex-Students

As we look back into the records of Canyon High School we find quite a few of our present citizens who graduated from this institution.

We find that Hudson Prichard, Gladys Rogers Thompson, and Lillburn Thompson graduated in 1911.

Then as we turn the pages we come to the record of the graduates of 1915. There we find the names of Dewey Mae Gibson Beck, Carleta Hensley Helser, Kathleen Stewart Bishir, and Lorenzo Wirt.

Only three graduates of 1916 are living in Canyon now. They are Ida Fay Smith Holt, Ross Craig, and Marian Ray McReynolds.

The next meeting of the P. T. A. will be held Thursday, March 16. An executive meeting was held last Wednesday at which a nominating committee decided on officers for the next year. It was decided to buy glasses for a grade school boy that needed them badly. A program for carrying on summer work was discussed.

Canadian Krazy Kats Kop Honors In Girls Tourney

Fast Conlen Sextet Makes Brave Fight, Meeting Kats In Final

In the girls' district tournament held here Friday and Saturday, the giant Canadian team ran rampant to win straight through a double elimination contest.

The Canadian Krazy Kats met the fast but small Conlen team in the finals and defeated them by a 47-37 score. The Conlen guards were not tall enough to successfully get the ball away from the tall Canadian forwards, once the ball was in their section. The whole game centered around the forwards, K. Sims and Fullingim, and the jump center, Miller, all of whom stand at 5 ft. 11 in. Besides their height, these players proved that they knew their basketball.

Roberts, diminutive Conlen forward, was the best shot at the basket to appear on the tournament floor. Her scoring lowered the margin between the winners and her team during the last quarter of the final tilt.

Canadian defeated Conlen in the first round, then took on Perryton, winners over Friona in the first round. Conlen took Friona out of the tournament in the first game of the losers bracket. Conlen then defeated Perryton for the right to meet Canadian in the finals.

The officials of the tournament, Stratton, of Clovis, and Morgan, of Canyon, selected the following all-star teams:

K. Sims, Canadian, forward; Roberts, Conlen, forward; Miller, Canadian, jump center; Helton, Canadian, running center; M. French, Perryton, guard; and Green, Conlen, guard.

The second team chosen was Fullingim, Canadian, forward; Chronister, Friona, forward; Huff, Conlen, jump center; Packard, running center; Routh, Friona, guard; and Winfrey, Perryton, guard.

Some of the girls who showed up well but who are not mentioned on the all-star team are Knight, forward, of Conlen, E. Roberts of Conlen, running center, and I. French, Canadian, guard and center.

PAGEANT WILL DEVELOP AGE FROM PIONEER

SENIOR CLASS WILL PARTAKE IN DEDICATION CEREMONY FOR PIONEER HALL

A steering committee consisting of Ernest Cabe, Eulalia Burrus, and Clarice Matthews was appointed last week by Frank Monroe, president of the senior class, to begin immediate work on the "Pioneer Pageant," which will be presented on April 14, the day of the dedication of Pioneer Hall. The pageant will be developed by and cast from members of the senior class with the assistance of C. W. Batchelder of the public speaking department and L. F. Sheffy, professor of history.

The class of '33 voted two weeks ago to sponsor such a project as a gesture to show to the passing first citizens of the Panhandle the appreciation entertained by the younger generation for their sacrifices and contributions. Tentative plans have already been made by the steering committee, sub-committees to take care of the various parts of the pageant will be appointed early this week.

The manner in which the pageant will develop the subject of pioneer life has not been revealed by those in charge.

Tulia Kiwanis Club Had W. T. Guests On Lunch Program

Dr. R. P. Jarrett, Miss Pauline Brigham, and Miss Mary Helen Hardin attended a Kiwanis Luncheon at Tulia last Tuesday, February 28, at which Dr. Jarrett was the principle speaker. "Little" Suits Will Go Big This Spring

YOUR WARDROBE SHOULD HAVE AT LEAST ONE WARM, WOOLEN COSTUME FOR THE SEASON'S COOLER DAYS

BY HARRIET

THE "little" suit is synonymous with spring this year. Your first thoughts, when you contemplate a spring wardrobe, should be of a suit or some outfit that can be worn when it is warm enough to go without a coat but still too cold to wear a silk dress on the street.

There are three types of these little outfits. The tailored suit, always chic, is quite mannish with notched lapels, fitted waistline straight, unpleated skirt, turned-down collar and rather tight, fitted sleeves. With it you wear a mannish hat (some variation of the fedora), a tailored blouse and either oxfords or brogues. This suit, if of tweed, may have its own topcoat of identical material.

The dressmaker's suit, with or without a cape, is more feminine. The skirt is apt to have a few pleats in front and back and the sleeves may be cut full at the top or have some fullness below the elbow. If you like to keep your jacket on while you work or at lunch this type of suit is much more comfortable. The coat may blouse over the hips instead of being fitted at the waistline and it may tie with satin ribbon or a belt of the same material as the suit instead of being buttoned. With it you wear a small hat, feminine but not frilly, a fox scarf and pumps or one-strap slippers.

The third type of early spring street outfit is the redingote. This is really a lightweight, wrap-around coat which opens down the front to show a printed dress underneath. You may have cape sleeves and a huge bow of the print at your throat if you wish to make the outfit feminine. Or, you can have tight sleeves and a tailored collar on the dress which makes the whole outfit coincide with the mannish trend in clothes this spring.

Many dressmakers' suits have capes. You can have a cape instead of a coat or your coat may have cape sleeves. Some of the shoulder capes are removable leaving a plain tailored suit.

A FORMAL, two-piece, dressmaker's suit for spring features a soft, feminine touch by adding a circle of satin trim which binds the right lapel and the high neckline and forms a sash that is attached to the waist-length jacket. The material is imported, black wool crepe.

This is the kind of a suit which you will wear to lunch, to tea and even to dinner if you have an interesting blouse to exhibit when the jacket is removed.

You can top it off with a high-in-the-back hat. The fur capelet is of silver black fox made on a background of satin and has long streamers which tie under the arms in the back. It makes the suit much more formal and "dressy"—remove it and you can wear the outfit on less formal occasions.

The dress has wide cape sleeves, and a tie scarf which slips through an eyelet of the coat when fastened. At right is a formal two-piece dressmaker's suit of imported wool crepe. Burton Has Fine Record At W. T.

Big Coach Has Won 216 Games Out of 253 In 12 Year Period

Coach "Sad Sam" Burton of the West Texas State Teachers College, has established what is believed to be a national record in the coaching of basketball.

In the twelve years he has coached here he has played a total of 253 games and has won 216 of them. His team has met all classes of competition, including the leading colleges and universities of the Southwest, as well as the leading A. A. U. teams of the Nation. This year, his team split a two game series with the Southern Kansas State Lines team of Kansas City, Mo., also the Wichita Henry's, National A. A. U. Champs, and last week defeated the Pasadena Majors, the leading team of the Pacific Coast, 42 to 30. Burton, having taken his team to the National Tournament at Kansas City March 6-14, is given a fighting chance to go to the Semi-finals in Tournament play.

Burton also coaches football and his team last fall was undefeated in the conference schedule, having only one touchdown scored against it in conference play.

CHAPEL TALKS HAVE PART IN SAT. EVENTS

IMPORTANT VISITORS GIVEN ACCLAIM IN ASSEMBLY; GUESTS OF COLLEGE

Breaking into the customary routine of W. T.'s chapel programs, visiting notables from over the Panhandle of Texas were introduced to W. T. students Saturday morning at the assembly hour by Dr. J. A. Hill. The guests, members of the Board of Regents and the Panhandle Plains Historical Society, were on the Campus for an inspection of Pioneer Hall and the resultant acceptance of the building.

After a twenty minute musical program given by the Buffalo Band, John Hill, Amarillo Regent member, was introduced. Horace Russell, Amarillo business man next introduced J. O. Guleke who spoke on Texas educational matters. Mrs. W. T. Coble, P. P. H. S. official, spoke briefly on the significance of the museum.

J. O. Guleke, member of the State Board of Education, while displaying a broad sense of humor, outlined his work as a member of the Board. He assured W. T. students and faculty that this institution was receiving his support.

Henry A. Paulus, vice president of the Board of Regents and the last speaker of the hour, spoke favorably of teachers colleges in general and W. T. in particular. In the course of his speech he paid a high tribute to Dr. Hill, quoting a student who had heard the W. T. President speak at San Marcos recently: "Hearing Dr. Hill has repaid me amply for my year's work there, if I should get no value from attending."

In introducing Judge H. E. Hoover of Canadian, pioneer Texan of 47 years, Dr. Hill said, "I think he has done more for West Texas than any other man, at least in the early stages." Judge Hoover moved to Texas in 1886.

"It is fitting," he said, "that we should be accepting the museum building today, a day when it is apparent that we have reached rock bottom. It is indeed symbolic of the indomitable spirit of Plainsmen. . . . It is up to your generation to take up the tools left by a departing generation and to carry their projects on to completion."

Uneasy Lies the Head That Wears a Boxing Crown This Year, if Titles Continue to Change Hands at the Current Pace

BY PHILIP MARTIN

IF pugilistic titles change hands during the rest of the year at the rate they did the first two months in 1933, it's going to be a perilous year for the maulers who wear the crowns of their division.

Since the first of the year Freddie Miller, Cincinnati youth, won the N. B. A. featherweight championship from Tommy Paul, Buffalo battler; Ben Jeby beat Frank Battaglia for the New York Boxing Commission's middleweight championship; Gorilla Jones took Sammy Slaughter into camp for the National Boxing Commission's middleweight title, and Young Corbett III beat Jackie Fields for the welterweight crown.

THE case of Young Corbett is a striking illustration of the final outcome of that old saw that tells you to try again if you don't succeed at first.

The Fresno, Calif., boy, who picked grapes under the name of Raffaello Giordano before he entered the ring, had a lot of chances to fight champions, fought them, won from them, and yet never copped the title.

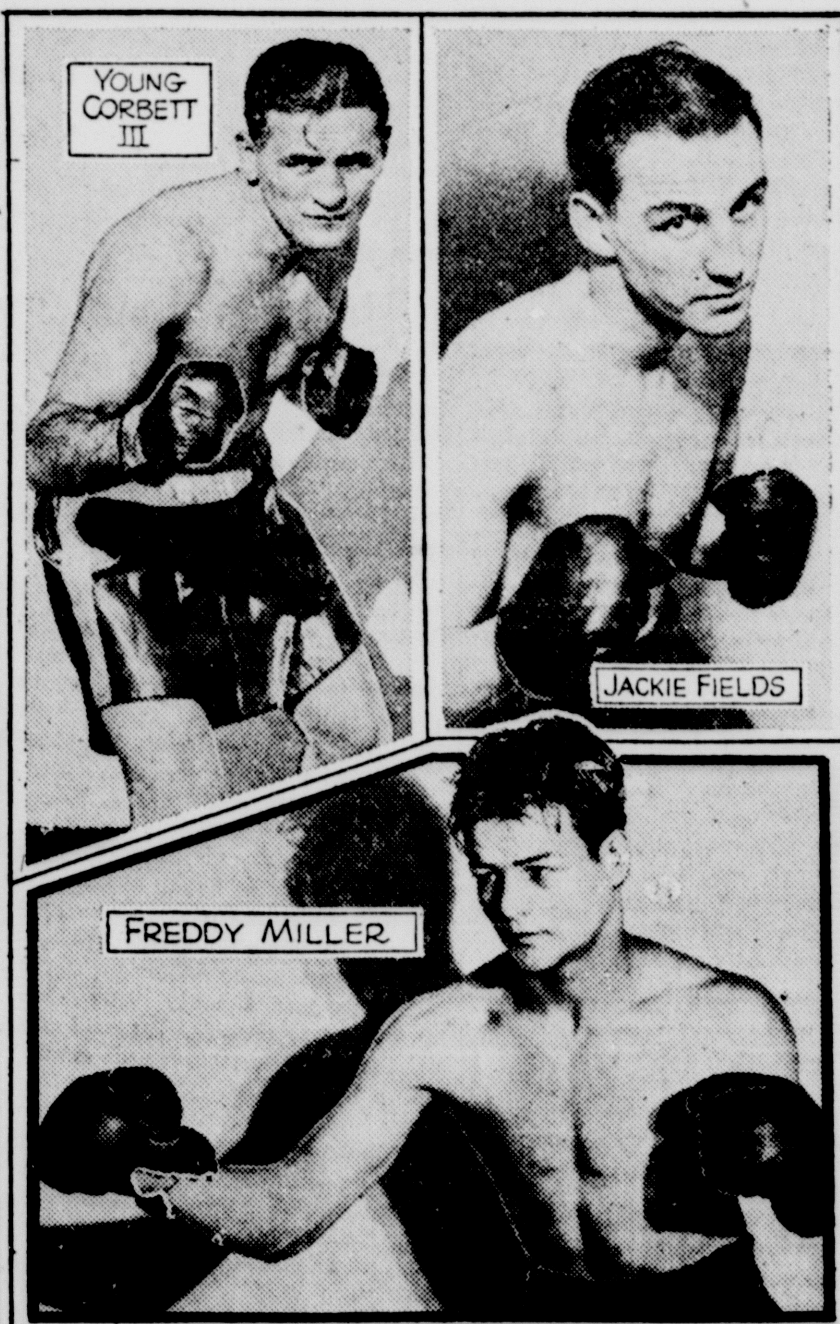

The southpaw socker had Young Jack Thompson, former champion, in the ring four times, copped three decisions and earned one draw, but the crown never became his because Thompson's manager insisted on an overweight match.

The same thing occurred when Corbett sought matches with Fields. Willy Jack Kearns, Fields' pilot, insisted that Young Corbett come into the ring overweight, and despite an injured hand, Corbett gave Jackie a licking—but to no avail as far as championship aspirations were concerned.

BUT the two were finally matched in Los Angeles. Corbett entered the ring a 2-1 favorite over the champion, and it may be said that he kept faith with his backers.

His unorthodox style of fighting—leading with his right hand—had Fields bothered all during the fight, and his lightning left hand kept piling up points that had the champion dizzy.

Corbett won the championship, but he won little else. Kearns, before he agreed to the match, insisted that Fields should receive, as his end of the purse, the first $35,000 to enter the gate. A percent of what was left was to go to the challenger.

The gate totaled about $56,000, which was an indication of the popularity of the fight. Fields got his 35 grand and poor Corbett got the crown and a short-end purse of $4,000.

But if Corbett is as busy a champion as he was a challenger, he will more than make up for that slim check. The boy's a willing fighter—much more willing than Fields—and with his popularity on the coast he ought to cash in heavily before he gets much older.

Already there is talk of rematching the two in New York. It is hard to estimate the gate that Madison Square Garden would count if both were to materialize. But if Corbett doesn't make Fields "eat at the second table" as he himself was forced to do, then managers are getting big-hearted and John D. Rockefeller is going to start giving away dollars instead of dimes.

REV. J. R. HICKS

A brief resume of the work of Rev. J. R. Hicks, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was offered to the congregation on last Sunday morning by the deacon's of the church.

The statement briefly outlined the condition of the church at the time Rev. Hicks came as pastor and then revealed these facts regarding the progress of the church during his ministry. With a deepening spiritual life the attendance has increased more than one hundred per cent at the preaching service, at least seventy-five per cent at Sunday School and approximately fifty per cent at B. T. S. The Laymen's work has been organized with an average attendance of about fifty. The weekly offerings have increased from $17.00 the first Sunday in September to an average of $73.58 in actual cash, or a total since October 1st, of $1,618.68. Notes have been decreased $110.00. Local and outside indebtedness has been decreased $950.90 without the deduction of notes or, in total, a debt reduction of $1,060.90. In addition to this $20.00 has been sent to missions.

Following the report a motion and second was made to approve it for the permanent church records and in doing so pledge to Rev. Hicks a hearty enthusiastic and prayerful support to whatever program might be his under the leadership of the Holy Spirit. In voting on the motion nearly the entire congregation of Baptists stood.

Miss Leola Hayes, Coystal and Jacqueline Tabor of Farwell were week end guests at the T. V. Reeves home.

Texas Art Will Be Shown Until Monday at W. T.

Texas youths receive their share of the honors in the National Scholastic Exhibition of High School Art which is being shown under the sponsorship of the Phidias Art Club of the College in Room 202 of the Education building this week.

Pastels, wall hangings and articles in metal work by Texas high school students between the ages of 14 and 17 came in for especial praise from Miss Isabel Robinson, head of the Art Department. Colorful work from El Paso and other southwestern art centers is outstanding.

The exhibition is national in character as it includes 250 items representing practically every state in the union, and is rated one of the best ever circulated by the American Federation of Arts.

The general public is invited to visit the exhibit which will be open from 8 to 5 o'clock each day the remainder of this week, closing Monday, March 13. A member of the Phidias Art club, Miss Militia Hill or Miss Robinson will be present to welcome visitors. No admission fee is charged.

College Bills

work of the various colleges, asserting it would be unwise to abolish any of them at the present time.

President J. A. Hill is in Austin this week to appear before the Appropriations Committee of the House. Hearings on the Educational budget are being heard this week, and W. T. will be presented by Dr. Hill and J. D. Hamlin of Farwell, who is representing the Canyon Chamber of Commerce on all educational matters.

The bill in the House which seeks to lower the standards of W. T. and other teachers colleges has been set for a hearing next Monday night. It is likely that Dr. Hill will remain in Austin this week in order to appear before the Education Committee which will hear this bill discussed.

No reports have been made on the pending bills which affect the local funds. The legislature passed the half-way mark this week, and a large number of the 772 bills introduced this session are still before the committees for public hearings.

Banking Holiday

when the holidays were called, and the rules made.

This is the first time since 1907 when a general banking holiday was imposed upon the nation. At that time restricted withdrawals continued for several months. All of the banks came through that period in much better condition than before, and following that holiday conditions imposed rapidly in the United States. It is now predicted that this holiday will be a repetition in the United States.

The people of the nation are called upon to observe the rules which will be announced today by the state and by the nation. The local banks are anxious to serve their customers as they have in the past, but must abide by the rules which are made for them to operate. The state law passed Saturday provides that any bank violating the rules of the State Banking Commissioner will forfeit its charter to do business. For this reason, customers are asked to read carefully the rules made and not to ask the banks to violate any of them when they open tomorrow.

Pioneer Hall

Frank P. Lytle Construction Company, contractors in charge of the construction of Pioneer Hall, were carefully checked by the two committees and the building was thoroughly inspected. The utmost satisfaction was expressed by all those connected with transfer of the building.

The Museum building was completed last week with the exception of the basement floor. The concrete in the basement is being poured this week.

Material from the store rooms of the society in the Administration building will start being moved today in preparation for the dedication on April 14. The building will not be opened to the public until after the dedication.

A luncheon was given at noon at the Home Economics dining room which was attended by President Hill, Henry Paulis, Judge A. B. Martin, Judge H. E. Hoover, Ben Mead, Travis Shaw, E. F. Rittenberry, Jas. James, L. F. Sheffy, Frank Little, Miss Hattie M. Anderson, C. R. Burrow, R. A. Terrill, M. O. Carder, T. C. Thompson, Mrs. T. V. Reeves, Mrs. W. T. Coble, Mrs. J. A. Hill, John E. Hill, R. P. Jarrett, H. M. Russell, Mrs. Geraldine Green and Clyde W. Warwick.

SALES STOPPED TUESDAY BY A NEW STATE LAW

A number of real estate foreclosures were stopped Tuesday under the provisions of a bill passed by the legislature Monday. This postponed foreclosures on real estate which were posted for March until April 4th.

Another bill passed the House Tuesday which would postpone all foreclosures for one year. The Senate has not acted upon the bill.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OPENS A NEW OFFICE

The office of the Chamber of Commerce has been moved from the County Agent's office to a new office opened on the west side of the court house. A new door was cut into a room formerly used as a vault, and this room fixed up as an office.

Fred E. Wortham, secretary, moved his equipment into the new office yesterday.

DINNER FOR THURMANS

Professor and Mrs. Claude H. Thurman will be guests of honor next Tuesday at a dinner given by the Extension Class which Mr. Thurman has taught in Pampa during the term which is just closing. The Pampa class is composed largely of teachers.

Dr. Albert Barnett taught a class there in the fall, and Dr. H. M. Cook and Professor C. A. Murray have had classes there in previous years.

HIGH WAY WORK STOPPED WITH LACK OF FUNDS

Unable to cash their state warrants, work on the highway west was discontinued this week. The contractor states that work will be renewed when banking facilities are resumed so that the state warrants may be handled.

Would You Do This With Milk?

When the milk man brings the morning's milk, do you at once step to the sink and pour out a portion of it? Certainly not!

THEN WHY WASTE NATURAL GAS?

The various gas cocks, fittings and piping on your premises may not be gas tight and can frequently waste a large amount of gas in a year through leakage.

With the Bunsen type of blue flame burner, a showing of red or yellow in the flame is an indication of imperfect combustion and therefore waste.

Rooms are more healthful if kept at about 70 degrees F., with proper humidity, yet much gas is wasted by keeping room temperatures higher.

Heat radiated into furnace rooms from the furnace, the furnace piping, and hot water and steam piping does not enter the room that is to be heated and therefore is wasted. Proper insulating of furnace piping will greatly curtail this loss. In any gas heating device the temperature of the combustion products where they go into the chimney has an important bearing on heat loss.

Improper adjustment of appliances resulting in imperfect combustion is a waste.

Water that precipitate scale or sediment will frequently build up a thick coating on the inside of the water heater over point of flame contact and greatly increase the amount of gas necessary to heat the water.

Turning on gas to a point where the flame goes over the top in open top space heaters wastes gas.

While we can not regulate the amount of gas that you use, we do urge you to take care that your consumption does not exceed your actual needs. Satisfied customers constitute our best asset. They are worth more to us than any revenue derived from gas which is wasted.
